About Animals.

The University of Pennsylvania has not failed to answer some of these strange questions:

Why do not monkeys talk, when their vocal organs are quite as perfect as those of many human beings?

Why and how does the chameleon change color?

Why do animals in captivity fail to breed?

Exactly how much honey will an industrious bee gather in one day?

Do animals dream?

These and a score of other zoological questions quite as interesting will be studied in the new experimental laboratory for live animals which the University of Pennsylvania is now constructing. It will be the first institution of the kind ever built as an adjunct to a college or university.

There will be cages for large animals, aviaries for birds, lots for bats, aquariums for fish, rooms for insects, and in all of these departments a mass of apparatus for carrying on experiments.

Scientists generally are viewing this new departure of the University of Pennsylvania with much more than ordinary interest, because it is hoped that many of the greatest problems in animal life will be solved by it. In the past scientists have confined their studies almost wholly to the comparative anatomy of beasts, birds and insects without making any very systematic effort to investigate their curious habits, contrasts and traits, which might, if explained, have a very definite bearing on the general problem of existence. Desultory efforts have been made in the past, but no great institution has hitherto taken up the subject on a comparative scale; consequently the experimental laboratory of the University of Pennsylvania, now well under way, is looked upon with remarkable interest.

How animals communicate with one another has always been an interesting question, and the subject will be taken up with increased vigor by the students of experiment station. Sir John Lubbock established the fact that ants of certain species have a method of shaking hands and passing the time of day by stroking one another with their antennae. This stroking process evidently encompasses a wide range of information, for the affairs of a whole colony seem some times to become readjusted because of it. But just what is the inner process of the communication no one seems quite able to say. Does this stroking vary infinitely in pressure, as does the delicate touch of a blind man's fingers, or is there in addition a passage of sound with the pitch far below the range of the human ear? Perhaps our scientists will arrive at the meaning of it. Dogs, cats, horses, all animals in fact, gaze at one another in apparent silence, and are friendly or hostile as the case may be. How are their feelings transmitted? Does domesticity increase the power of expression? Dogs have various expressions. According to Darwin they yelp with pain, growl with anger, whine with fear, bay with anticipation, bark sharply with pleasure, etc. Now if we examine the wolf we must be forced to these accomplishments acquired.

According to Prof. Edwin G. Conklin, who has been instrumental in establishing the animal experiment station, there is no apparent reason why monkeys should not be induced to talk in some civilized language; just which one is not decided. It would be out of the question to have a dog speak, for his vocal organs are not of the proper shape to make speech, yet it has improved wonderfully on his savage ancestor. The monkey, on the other hand, has never brought forth successive generations in captivity, yet it has its human vocal organs ready made. The questions remain, then: What would be the ultimate effect of environment? Would it speak finally? Without being too Garneque, it is the opinion of many scientists that it would.

All this comes under the head of comparative psychology, and by means of it Prof. Conklin and his confederates hope to trace to their origin the many curious habits which domestic animals still retain. Why, for instance, does the dog turn around in a circle when about to lie down to sleep? It is said to be a remnant of the days when he slept wild in leaves and tall grass. Perhaps it is, but there may be another reason behind it. Why do pointers point naturally? Why is the poodle more capable of doing tricks than the Spitz dog, and so on? This and many other unexplainable actions of domestic animals we may soon know all about. We may know why it is that there is a penalty of non-production hanging over the heads of hybrids—why the young of animals of two different species do not, like the mule, produce young; why many wild animals refuse to breed in captivity.

Much attention will be given to the night flying animals and birds, of which so little is known. A regular bat loft will be maintained, and the little animals will be allowed to come and go at will, but they will be closely watched. There will be no trouble in establishing the bats in the loft. It seems that it is only necessary to keep bats in a loft for several days until the odor of the animals permeates the place. Then, if liberated, they will, like chickens, come home to roost, and bring other bats with them. The economy of the bat investigation becomes apparent when it is stated on authority that they kill more mosquitoes than any other animal, bird or beast.

Downstairs, in the cellar of the institution, there will be snakes and scorpions and chameleons, whose peculiar idiosyncrasies will be examined, and we may soon know more of these animals than ever was dreamed of by Wood or Sheldrake.

It is the hope of the faculty of the university that the species of investigation thus outlined will result in a broader system of biological teaching in the public schools generally. It is far better for the general welfare of the student, and infinitely more humane, that he know something more of the habits and intellectual traits of an animal than of its anatomy. A knowledge of the insides of a dog is all very well, but it is not as interesting, nor of a great value, as is a thorough acquaintance with it as a living factor in the great round world. The experiment of the University of Pennsylvania at any rate will be watched with interest. Its value must certainly become more apparent as the years roll by, and the number of members of the wild animal kingdom get less and less.

Obituary Notice

Miss Mattie Cannon was born in Washington county, Illinois, Feb. 27, 1863. With her parents she removed to Kentucky in 1866. At the age of 13 she professed faith in Christ and joined the M. E. Church, South, in which church she lived a faithful and worthy member for ten years. In Aug. 1886, Elders L. H. Evans and G. G. Rupert came to Marion, and held a series of ten meetings, preaching the Third Angel's Message, of Rev. 14:9-12. After hearing them and finding, by searching the scriptures for herself, that they taught the truth as it is in the word of God, she began to keep the Sabbath of the Lord in harmony with the fourth commandment of the Decalogue, and became identified with the Seventh Day Adventist church, in which church she spent the remainder of her life.

From her earliest childhood, she was an obedient and loving daughter, a kind sister, and a faithful friend.

For several months her health had been on the decline, and the development of the difficulty showed that she was a victim of that dreaded disease, tuberculosis. After enduring great suffering with much patience and Christian resignation, she quietly fell asleep, Sabbath evening, Nov. 4th, 1898, aged 35 years, 8 months and five days.

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep, from which none ever wakes to weep."

She leaves a father, mother, two brothers and one sister; to mourn her loss, yet not as those without hope let These 4:13-18.

ALITTLE BOY

Kicked By a Mule and Probably Fatally Hurt.

One day last week the little three-year-old son of Mr. S. G. Clark, of the Salem Valley, wandered into the horse lot, and with a switch began amusing himself by striking the animals with a switch. He got too close to a mule, and when he struck it the animal kicked him, striking him on the head and breaking in the skull. A portion of the skull, about an inch square, was driven in and Mrs. Hayden and Grasmann, found it compressing the brain. They had to remove the broken piece. When last heard from, the little fellow was resting fairly well, but the chances are against his recovery.

A Mob's Work.

One night last week a mob of disguised men went to the house of "Dirty" Bob Vinson in the northwest part of the county and ran him out of his house, and thereupon proceeded to tear up and demolish the house and its contents. They tore out all of one side of the house and left it in an uninhabitable condition.—Price-ven Banner.

Branch to Dixon.

DIXON, KY., Dec. 2.—Talk of getting a railroad has again been revived by the people of Dixon, Clay and Lissman and they have been given some encouragement by the officials of the Illinois Central railroad to make them believe that their wishes may be gratified. The prospective road would be extended from Sullivan to Dixon, via Clay and Lissman, a distance of about eighteen miles. It would run through the richest section of Webster county and would be a great boon to the people and towns on its route, as well as a large source of revenue to its owners.

A meeting was held at Dixon Monday by substantial citizens of these points who will make an earnest effort to get the project on foot and who will contribute liberally to this end.

The damage suit of Butler against Fox, which attracted considerable attention, was settled by an agreement between the parties the last day of circuit court. Fox's dog bit Butler's boy, while the latter was engaged in work on the public road, and Butler sued for damages in the sum of $700. According to the terms of the settlement Fox pays the doctor's bill, some seven or eight dollars, and the cost of the suit except Butler's witness.

CLOSED DOWN.

The DeKoven Mines Permanently Quits Business.

DEKOVEN, KY., Dec. 1.—Captain Sam Brown, the Pittsburgh Millionaire spent part of last week at DeKoven. The object of his visit to this place was to look over the situation in regard to the mines, and resulted in an order to close down the mines permanently being issued.

Several men are busy this week removing the pumps, air-pipe, cars and mining machines.

The order bids fair to prove a fatal blow to this place and may leave DeKoven a wreck. It is sad to contemplate as many old friends and neighbors, who have mix and commingled for many years, will be compelled now to go their several ways in order to make a living for themselves and families.

The citizens are hoping against the odds, however, that the ultimate result may not be as disastrous as now indicated.

"This Funny World"

Mr. Robert C. Haynes, the poet laureate of Crittenden county, has a new book in press and hopes to have it ready for delivery to subscribers and on sale by the 25th. It will be a neat little volume of about seventy five pages. Price 25 cents.

In the preface the author says: "In the Crittenden Press two years ago, the author has been urged by many of his friends—knowing, peradventure, his propensity, perhaps weakness, for verse making—to write a sequel to that story. At leisure times and as inclination prompted, he has done so, and This Funny World is the result.

The scene of our story is in Panter Hollow and opens at the dawn of the day on which Chat was rescued by his friends.

The "Panther Hollow" of the story is the big densely wooded vale a few miles northwest of Marion, and the author inhabits it with wild animals that were there in the early days; and he commits no grievous anachronism in having the panther there today, for the hollow with a primeval forest is still a fit home for them. The local colorings are all true to nature, and the characters have their prototypes about us: John Doe, Annie, Carrie, John, Fent, Dave and Sam can all be found. It is an ingenious, well written, told in simple rhythmic verse, and we hope a copy of the book will find its way into every home in the county.

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

In Bracken county in the Ninth Congressional district the county election commissioners threw out certain precincts in which some irregularities occurred, changing the result of the election in the entire district and electing Williams, the Democrat, over Pugh, the Republican. The matter was carried before the State election commissioners and they very properly held that the slight irregularities should not thwart the verdict of the majority of those voting, and gave the election to Pugh, the Republican. The decision was a good one, and shows that the State election commissioners can rise above partisanship and do the equitable thing. It is a great credit to them that they would get justice to the voters in the adjustment that will be made by the House.

After all as much depends upon the men who hold the offices as upon the laws behind them.

The old election laws were all right so long as the men in power did the square thing, but no longer, and the same may be said of the new law. It will be easier for the legislatures that are to come in Kentucky to keep up the high standard of commissioners than it would have been to raise as high a standard under the old law. Kentucky's first experience with the new law will remove from the mind of the people many of the doubts and fears heretofore extant.

The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business November 30, the interest-bearing debt of the county was $1,036,396.63; adding the debt that bears no interest, $382,212.07, we have the total debt, $1,418,608.70, or nearly $19.00 for each inhabitant. The non-interest bearing debt includes the treasury notes and greenbacks, which make such good money that we are all anxious to work for. It costs the government practically nothing to keep it in circulation, it will buy goods, it will pay taxes and it will liquidate debts of all kinds except import duties and the interest that accumulates on that portion of the public debt that bears interest. This is the money which the national banks, and their friends, want to abolish. They want the government to take in, or pay the debt that bears no interest; and it must be paid in interest-bearing bonds. Then to keep the supply of money up to the necessities of business, the banks will very generously take the bonds, and make the government pay them interest thereon, and they will very generously issue their own money, known as national bank notes, to the people if they will pay interest thereon. This is the way they propose to make a safe and flexible currency; this is the plan they propose whereby the interest-bearing debt of the country is to be increased, and they are to draw the interest from the government on the bonds, and from the people on the money used in business. By this means they draw double interest, and if they are permitted to fasten their system upon the country, they are truly "successful business men." But why not let the non-interest bearing debt stand, and why not coin the silver to supply the business demands for more money?

The Macoupin County, Illinois grand jury returned three indictments against Gov. Tanner for his connection with the Virden riots. The indictments charge him with "failure and refusal to send troops to aid the sheriff, in checking the action of a thousand or more men who were preventing certain persons from entering on their duty in the service of the Chicago-Virden Coal Mining Company." The governor has shown no disposition to lose any sleep over the matter. As the company has acceded to the demands of the miners who were objecting to the importing of the strangers, it seems that Gov. Tanner was not altogether wrong in being tardy to assist the company in its effort to crowd out the home men with cheaper labor. The result of the affair will learn these big corporations that, though the cold letter of the law may be backing their efforts, such a course is not congenial to the better feelings of the American people. Such occurrences are lamentable, but it takes drastic medicine occasionally to arouse a liver, torpid to all workings save those of the shining dollar. Had Governor Tanner rushed in with his soldiery as minions to enforce the first demands of inexorable law, capital would probably have won an unconditional victory over labor at Virden, and a similar fight would have been encouraged wherever and whenever labor refused to bow to the demands of heartless corporations. The moral effect of Virden on one hand may have a tendency to bring law under the tongue of disrepute, and on the other it may make capital more considerate of labor, and out of the two, better conditions should arise.

The Last Session of The War Congress Gathers Under Historic Conditions

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Washington, D. C. Dec 5.—The Congress which adjourned with the screech of war assembled today under the wings of peace. It came together without incident or dramatic effect. Over on the Senate side the floor looked like a floral garden, nearly every Senator being remembered by admiring friends. The feature of the rather ornate display was an elaborate scroll of roses and immortelles, resting on a frame full four feet high. It was on Senator Cullom's desk. His colleague, Senator Mason, was a good second in floral remembrance. Senator Foraker's desk was profuse with red roses. Senator Hanna was not in the floral swim.

The attendance of Senators was quite full. There was the usual interchange of cordial greetings before the proceedings began. One would hardly have thought, looking down from the galleries, that the assembled wisdom which adjourned to the sound of cheering, would have returned in five short months under the wings of the dove of peace.

The one feature of the opening day was the rather impressive prayer of the blind chaplain, who invoked the divine blessing on stricken Spain, the Queen Regent and her young son.

The reading of the President's message, more than of usual length, by a secretary who had neither voice nor declamatory effect, soon thinned out the crowded galleries long before the adjournment came.

Through the courtesy of the Vice President the members of the Joint High Commission were admitted to the floor of the Senate, and were the recipients of much attention.

Promptly on the stroke of 12 Vice President Hobart entered and ascending to his desk rapped for order.

Rev. Mr. Milburn, the venerable blind chaplain, in a profoundly impressive manner, returned "Devout and reverent thanks for God's goodness to us as a nation and for His care of us since we last gathered in this chamber."

"By Thy good Providence," the chaplain prayed, "triumph has crowned our arms by land and by sea, so that peace has come to us through the council chamber. Let Thy grace be the portion of our people and by their hearts be rendered in service to Thee and to men. We pray that Thy blessing may be with the Queen Regent, of Spain, and her young son, and her nation. May Thy heavenly grace come to secure and uplift and uphold that stricken people. Grant that all good may be given to us, to our motherland and to all nations, and may we walk hand in hand with our brethren across the sea to the heights of Christian civilization."

A call of the Senate developed the presence of 67 members.

THE HOUSE.

Speaker Reed's gavel fell at noon today convening the third session of the Fifty-fourth Congress there were present 267 Representatives, which was a quorum.

The assembling of a session of Congress is always a great magnet for the multitude, but today the attraction was fraught with the added interest of all the memories which clung about the war Congress, the triumphs and reverses of the recent political battles at the polls, and the eagerness to hear the President's message, with its review of the events which have crowded the stage during this memorable year, and its recommendations of the policies for the future. The public seemed to feel that this was to be an epoch-making session, and for hours before noon a steady stream of people debouched from the corridors into the galleries.

The members began arriving shortly before 11, and the hall soon commenced to buzz with the exchanged greetings, congratulations or condolences. For those who had gone down at the November elections there were expressions of sympathy; for those who had been victorious, words of congratulation. Some of the members held regular levees as they appeared. This was markedly true of W. A. Stone, of Pennsylvania; Mr. Sayers, of Texas, and Mr. McMillen, of Tennessee, each of whom was chosen Governor of his respective State at the recent election.

Mr. Dingley, the floor leader of the House, and Mr. Bailey, the minority leader, came in simultaneously from the lobbies of their respective sides. Mr. Bailey went immediately to his seat, and Mr. Dingley, as soon as he could disengage himself from the friends who crowded about him, crossed over to the Democratic side and shook hands with his adversary.

As the hands of the clock pointed to noon the giant form of the speaker pushed through the green baize doors of the lobby in the rear of the hall and Mr. Reed ascended the rostrum. A wave of applause swept floor and galleries upon his appearance.

A slight smile played on his benign features as he raised his gavel aloft. When it fell with resounding whack a hush fell upon the vast assemblage. The chaplain stood in his place. A moment the speaker waited, with every eye riveted on him. Every member rose to his feet and many of those in the galleries.

THE MESSAGE.

The President's message to Congress reviews at length the war with Spain, the failure of diplomatic negotiations, the course of hostilities and the signing of the peace protocol. He trusts soon to be able to lay before the Senate a definite treaty of peace, and defers until that time the discussion of the government of the new possessions acquired by the war.

As to Cuba the apprehensions of the Cubans may be quieted by his statement that, "it should be our duty to assist in every proper way to build up the waste places of the island, encourage the industry of the people and assist them to form a government which shall be free and independent, thus realizing the best aspirations of the Cuban people."

He adds that until such government is established "military occupation will be continued."

The President urges prompt and definite action for the construction of an interoceanic canal. He recommends a standing army of 100,000 men, declaring his purpose to muster out all the volunteers as soon as the regular army is recruited up to the required strength.

The President asks for authority "to correspond with the Government of the principal maritime Powers with a view of incorporating into the permanent law of civilized nations the principle of the exemption of all private property at sea, not contraband of war, from capture or destruction by belligerent Powers."

He recommends legislation "under which a portion of the gold holdings would be placed in a trust fund from which greenbacks should be redeemed upon presentation, but when once redeemed should not hereafter be paid out except for gold."

He also advises the establishment of steamship lines to newly acquired islands; provision for a commission of experts to consider protection against yellow fever; the erection of a building for the Department of Justice and better accommodations for the Supreme Court; the revival of the grades of Admiral and vice-Admiral, "to be filled by officers who have specially distinguished themselves in the war with Spain," provision for taking the twelfth census; the granting of an appropriation for a permanent memorial in honor of the centennial, in 1900, of the founding of the city of Washington.

THANKSGIVING IN CAMP.

A Crittenden County Soldier Enjoys Himself at Savannah, Ga.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 2, '98.

ED. PRESS.—The Fourth Illinois, the regiment of which I have the honor of being a member, is stationed here, and it was a glorious Thanksgiving we had. The whole-soul citizens of Savannah made it a red letter day for us, and though we may "go marching along" for many a day yet on life varied battle field, the time will never come when we will forget them. I know many a mother or wife longed for some of us to be at home for Thanksgiving dinner, and let me whisper it to you, I know many a soldier boy or husband who longed just as earnestly to be there, but the way we were remembered here by these hospitable Southern people stayed the longing for awhile. We were notified in plenty of time, and when the day came, our camp-dining halls had been cleaned, and decorated with palms and evergreens, [that flourish hard by, and bunting bearing the national colors fluted about tent and mess hall.

Twelve turkeys were issued to each company and in addition the ladies of Savannah provided us with cakes, pies, apples, oranges, etc., and we were happy. After dinner, so beautifully and graciously served, we gathered around our band-stand and heard music that brought to mind the faces and forms of those at home. In the evening the faculty of the Savannah Conservatory of Music gave us a concert in the Y. M. C. A. tent. The boys of company F, know that the homes and churches of the hospitable people of Savannah are open to them and this makes the soldier happier. Our company turned in their old Springfield rifles yesterday and received new Krag Jorgensen ones.

JOHN W. WOODY

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me I expected to die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Orme's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

Rebent Daniel.

Mr. Everett Rebent and Miss Tinnie Daniel were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's uncle, T. M. Hill, Tuesday evening, Nov. 29, Rev. J. G. Haynes officiating. The attendants were Mr. Will Ward and Miss Florence Valzer. The contracting parties are both popular young people of the Chapel Hill neighborhood and a large number of their young friends gathered to witness the happy union. The young couple will go at once to the home of the bridegroom, who is a farmer by profession.

Nunn-Williamson.

Mr. Bryan Nunn and Miss Niece Williamson were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Horace Williamson, Wednesday evening, Nov. 30, Rev. Kenin performing the ceremony.

Miraculous Benefit RECEIVED FROM Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

E. L. P. BARCOCK, of Avoca, N. Y., a veteran of the 3rd N. Y. Artillery and Munsel Carriage Co. of Auburn, says: "I write to express my gratitude for the miraculous benefit received from Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. I suffered for years, as result of army life, from sciatica which affected my heart in the worst form, my limbs swelled from the ankles up. I bloated until I was unable to button my clothing; had sharp pains to the heart, smothering spells and shortness of breath. For three months I was unable to lie down, and all the sleep I got was in an arm chair. I was treated by the best doctors but gradually grew worse. About a year ago I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and it saved my life as if by a miracle."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Produce Wanted By SCHWAB

We are in need of 50 barrels of Molasses, 100 bushels Sweet potatoes, 64 bushels Onions, 1034 'coon hides, 386 mink hides, 1260 'psum hides, 286 skunk hides, 140 beef hides, 60 red fox hide, 364 doz eggs, 19 lbs butter. For all these except sweet potatoes and butter, WE PAY CASH.

CHapel Hill.

Mr. Jack Tabor's little boy is very low with fever.

Rev. J. G. Haynes preached at Chapel Hill on last Sunday night.

J. C. Minner has made arrangement with the Spar Company at Crayneville to work with them next year.

Bob Allen was around again to see us. Bob likes to talk insurance to the boys, and I believe it is a good thing.

A little infant child of D. S. Hill's died on Dec. 2, at Mr. T. M. Hill's, his father's.

We are glad to announce that little Silvin Bigham is on the mend, and improving fast.

We have some good crops of tobacco in our neighborhood unsold; in fact the best crops are here yet. I don't understand how it is, the buyers pass through and take some of the inferior crops and leave out the best ones. That isn't usually the case, they generally always buy the best crops and then skip out. It depends altogether on who it is that comes through.

Mr. H. S. Hill's little boy, Wiley, has been sick several days.

Another wedding is on hands, look out, Chapel Hill is on a boom. Christmas will bring about matrimony ties among the young people.

Mr. Green Jacobs is examining the boys' moustache in view of finding out who cut his bee tree; some one has cut Green's bee tree and he is still grumbling. I expect Baril cut it Green.

Burl Walker is annoyed very much with boys looking at his yearlings. Burl says he has fine yearlings over at his Daniel farm, and the cattle buyers gets after them and rubs them all over his field. Burl says he is going to put a stop to it.

Space ribs and sausage are plentiful in the neighborhood. I never saw a better time for killing hogs than last was—moon just right and hogs fat.

Shoes, harness and tinware repaired by Henry Cundiff. Your work solicited.

THE PROGRESS

(J. F. SCHMITZ, Manager.)

In New Hands.

Mr. M. A. Wing, an experienced miller, has rented the Bigham mill at this place and took charge Monday. Mr. Wing has been engaged in mill ing and mill building many years and is thoroughly conversant with the business in all its details. During the past few months he had charge of the erection of the mill at Mattoon. He will appreciate patronage of the people, and guarantee satisfaction in every particular. He will have personal supervision of the mill at all times and feels that his long experience in the business justifies him in asking a trial. Mr. W. D. Haynes is engaged as assistant miller, and will be glad to have his old patrons call.

J. H. Orme.

J. H. Orme, the druggist, has one of the largest and most attractive stock of holiday novelties ever shown in Marion. His handsome store room is made doubly attractive by the artistic display, and Christmas buyers will miss a great treat, if they fail to visit his store. His stock of books, alone, to say nothing of the other thousands and one features, affords a broad field for the buyer. A book is a tasty present at all times, and never more so than now. His line covers the field for the general reader, and they are in all kinds of binding. The bright picture and story book delights the children, and them books—the best books, are now sold at prices that place them within the reach of the buyer who has only a few cents to spend. The Teachers Sunday School Bibles make another feature that will please many people, but why enumerate further. He tells you all about them in his advertisement. He gets all of the new things, don't miss him in your rounds.

To Teachers.

I wish to meet as many teachers as possible in my office next Saturday, at 1 o'clock p.m. Please be prompt, we have some important business.

NEW SALEM.

Died at his home near Emmaus church, Dec. 5, Mr. John Hodge.

In the death of Uncle John, Crittenden has lost one of her oldest land marks; he was near 90 years of age, a good christian man. His remains were buried at Union, Dec. 6th.

Henry Brouster has had very bad luck with his cattle, losing five head by deborning.

W. C. Tyler left Nov. 27th to visit his son in Arkansas; he will be gone three or four weeks.

Harry Harpending arrived home last week stay in Arkansas; he reports most of his time with our old neighbor, Felix Tyler. Harry reports Felix doing well.

Dave Woolford has a very sick child.

Mrs. Martha Brouster returned home after spending a week with friends near Crayneville.

Willie Lowery is moving things along at his spar mines. He has struck several very fine beds of spar and proposes to make things lively as soon as he gets his machinery in running order.

LEVIAS.

Rev. R. A. Larue filled his regular appointment at Deer Creek Saturday and Sunday.

Fred and Miss Nellie Carly and Miss Fannie Stone, were guests at L. L. Price's Sunday.

The singing Sunday night at L. L. Price's was largely attended and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

Bro. J. S. Henry's pastoral year at Union, ended the first Sunday, and they called for him the ensuing year, almost unanimously. He has served us several years and we think best to retain him.

Miss Lella Carter visited friends in Marion Saturday and Sunday.

Uncle Jimmie Threlkeld is making rapid advancement towards getting his saw and grist mill in operation at this place.

J. A. Davidson returned from Dy-cusburg precinct where he has been for two weeks; he thinks he will get through by the 15th.

The baptism was postponed at Union Sunday on the account of the cold weather.

St. Franklin will move to the residence now occupied by John Franklin, and the latter will move to the river next week.

The good brethren and sisters who will contribute money or goods for the Orphan Home, are requested to have same at Chas. Larue's Wednesday.

We understand from traveling men that Mr. John Weldon and family, who left here in October and went to Crofton to go into business are not well pleased over the exchange. There is plenty of room in Tolu and they would be heartily welcomed back if they would come.

Rev. J. C. Long, of Chapel Hill, was in our town last week and seems to be in bad health.

Since our last report two new business houses have been added to our town; a ship yard on Main street by Stone & Son, and a cigar house by Hina and Weldon, with a smoking room next door west of the Tolu Roller Mills; a large stove is used as a depository for cigars when not in actual use. Mr. Hina, the senior partner is always delighted to wait on customers, whilst Charley Weldon being young, small in stature and throat, submits cheerfully to all suggestions of the senior partner.

Mrs. D. W. Carter was the guest of her mother Mrs. J. A. Davidson, last week.

The cold snap took most of us by surprise and without coal.

Luke Johnson, of Oklahoma, formerly of this county is visiting friends and relatives of this place; he is also on the sick list.

E. E. Burk, of Neely Point, Mo., is in town this week visiting his mother.

We now have two doctor's and they seem to be well employed.

J. H. Rutter has moved his stock of dry goods from the brick house down town to Dr. Lowery's on front street.

David R. Mantz went to Lols Monday on business.

Forest Harris, of Tolu, visited his mother last week.

The little child of Joa. Gilbert died of croup, Monday morning at 11 o'clock.

Herbert McGrew has begun boarding at W. A. Boyd's this week.

Several new students matriculated Monday, among them Ex-Deputy Sheriff Herbert Barnett. Classes have been organized in French, Latin Book-keeping and Stenography; the school is progressing nicely.

All of our weather profits, except T. J. Lear, predict the present month to be very cold and stormy.

Rev. Robt Johnson was called to Livingston county Saturday, and Modoc said he had to fill his place at Hebron.

Chas. Lear has been mail carrier the last week in place of Jas. Thomas who has been on the sick list.

D. A. Weldon and A. J. Bennett went to Marion Friday.

Our river packets are running about thirty six hours behind time now.

Forest Harris went to Evansville Saturday on the packet.

Miss Ida Hambrink has returned to Tolu and Modoc is happy.

Mr. Robert Threlkeld and daughter, Miss Maud, of Levias, visited the family of Wm. Davenport, of this place Saturday, returning home Sunday.

We understand from traveling men that Mr. John Weldon and family, who left here in October and went to Crofton to go into business are not well pleased over the exchange. There is plenty of room in Tolu and they would be heartily welcomed back if they would come.

Miss Bertie Wigginton went to Evansville Tuesday to visit Rev. T. A. Wigginton and family.

Quite a number from Crayneville attended the meeting here several times last week.

Do not buy an overcoat or suit of clothes until you see Buckner & Son.

If you want to buy a suit we have from $3.50 to $13.50.—Sam Howerton.

Lots of new shoes, all sizes, solid leather, men and women's, from $1, up.—Sam Howerton.

We call special attention to our new calicoes, percales, flannel outing, novelties in dress goods.—Woods & Fowler.

Should you want your engine or mill repaired it will be to your interest to call on us; we guarantee our work and give prompt service. Southern Mfg Co.

FREDONIA.

Lawrence Wilson and wife of Crider attended church here Sunday.

The stemmy commenced work last Monday morning.

A protracted meeting will commence at the Baptist church next Sunday.

The meeting closed at the C. P. church last Sunday night. There were 15 professions and eleven accessions to the church, and there will be others, as the weather was so bad Sunday they did not get out to church.

W. C. Glenn is agent for Ladies Home Journal and two thousand other magazines and papers, and will save you money on any you may want.

Mrs. J. F. Hughes and daughter, Miss Lucy were in town Monday.

Girl Dollar and family are moving to the McNary farm at Princeton.

T. A. Bugg's family perhaps will occupy the Dollar house here until he rebuilds on his farm.

Fred Guess and W. D. Baird have been proficient members of the choir during the meeting here.

Rev. Barber was unable to preach for two or three days during the meeting.

Miss Grace Adamson, of Crider, attended the meeting here most of the time.

Robert Esley has returned home after an absence of several years; his last place of business being in Minnesota.

Conductor's Story

A Friend Put Him on the Track to Good Health

Had Been Laid Up for Two Months with Dizzy Spells.

"I have had a stomach trouble for the past three years and last winter I was so bad that I could not work for over two months. I would have dizzy spells when I could not get out of bed, and when I was lying down it seemed as though there was a hard lump in my stomach. The medicine given me afforded relief only for a time. A friend advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and after taking six bottles I am glad to say I never felt better in my life. I do not have any dizzy spells and do not feel the lump in my stomach." A. JACKSON, Passenger Conductor, P. C. C. and St. Louis Ry., 229 19th St., Louisville, Kentucky.

COMMISSIONER SYSTEM.

ED. PRESS.—As the good sisters seem to be in a passive mood, and being apprehensive they have failed to catch the ideas intended to be conveyed in the commission plan of working the roads, with your permission, I will, by a concise statement, in regard to the benefits to be derived from this plan draw their ephe-meral imaginations back to old terra firma, so as they can see straight, comprehend aright, live straight and die straight. The Bible, Luke xvii, says "It is impossible but that offences will come but unto him through whom they come, etc." I do not regard this plan as para-mount to all others, for a Chinaman would readily decide taxation the only correct and just way of work-ing our roads. But as this is para-doxical to public opinion, we must resort to some other method more in unison with the deleterious im-pression of our tax payers. Is there any benefit to be derived from the com-mission system? Yes, most assured-ly, the very least feature, not to say anything of the greater is gold dust in comparison with the old thrifless way, which was originated perhaps several centuries ago, when the people had more use for road tools to kill snakes, tartraps and things of a vicious nature, than they had for road use; they did not even have road trucks to haul their wives and children in. Gosh! and here we are right on the fringes of the nine-teenth century, away down in the ruts and gulleys, that would puzzle a snake or tartrap to crawl out of, if they should be so unfortunate as to strike some of our public roads. Gosh! my dear good old sisters, if we can not devise a road system to protect our wives and children, we must protect these insolated creeping things, for we need them in our pub-lic museum as historical evidence that we are coming by, by roads or no roads. Now about this little feature, which is the base of the com-mission plan, it will do away with hostility between overseer and road hands, smother down, kill out fric-tion of opinion, which has been one of the great impediments to good roads. How often is it an overseer goes out on the road with an inclina-tion to do the right thing, at the right time and right place, but a few shovels of dirt discloses his inten-tions. Then what happens? The hands very often revolt, turn back from the bottom, and the two days is eked out in unconcerned slugh-ness. They say there is no need of all this work; he's not going to be fired, and they will slip-shod over the road on easy terms. Convince them that the boss is in a dangerous pos-tion, they will work and fight to, if necessary for their friend and neigh-bor. I do not mean that all road hands are altogether unconcerned, utt h above propositions are hu-man nature emphasized. What next, is there any more difficulties that of ten disturbs an overseer's sanctitude? Yes, for instance, there is brother

A Few Facts.

The fastest flowing river in the world is the Sutlej, in British India. Its descent is 12,000 in 180 miles.

Some scientists now hold that above the altitude of 12,000 feet from the sea level the temperature decreases about one degree for every rise of 350 feet.

Soothing, healing, cleansing, De-Witt's Witch Hazel Salve is the im-placable enemy of sores, burns and wounds. It never fails to cure Piles. You may rely upon it.—J. H. Orme.

Lord Kelvin calculates that the number of molecules in a cubic inch of any gas is 100,000,000,000,000,000,000,000, and in each of these mole-cules there are several atoms moving among themselves at the rate of sev-enty miles a minute.

Cousen's Lightning Liniment. There is no pain it will not relieve, no swelling it will not subdue, no wound it will not heal. It will cure frost bites, chilblains and corns. 25c at J. H. Orme's drugstore.

A horse will live twenty-five days without food, merely drinking water.

The largest proportion of single per-sons is found in Ireland and Scotland, and the smallest in the United States. In Ireland sixty-seven per cent, in Scotland sixty-five per cent, but in the United States only fifty-nine per cent are in that condition.

Stop that barking by the use of Cousen's Honey of Tar. It arrests the cough, allays irritation of the throat, and relieves congestion of the lungs in a day. It is safe and pleas-ant to take, and never disappoints. 25c and 50c at J. H. Orme's.

The Indian population of the United States is 248,340. In 1492 they were lords of the whole country; now they have reserved for them 144,496 square miles.

The armchair in which Burns wrote The Cotter's Saturday Night is in the Beekington Free Library in Cheshire. The founder, Joseph Mayer, bought it of the poet's son.

"Are you lacking in strength and energy? Are you nervous, dis-pendent, irritable, bilious, constipated and generally run down in health? If so, your liver is torpid, and a few doses of Herbine will cure you. Her-bine has no equal as a health restorer

Smith's fence hanging over in the road on the right, and brother Smarts on the left, in the same con-dition; and at this particular place the road is so narrow that an eel can scarcely slip through without leaving its hide in the focus of a tight circum-stance just behind its advent from a chie-eel. What disposition does an overseer generally make of the a little penitentiary? When he cerat-ches his head, marmers come undis-tinguishable language, and then slips off into the woods to hold secret prayer for guidance out of this great dilemma. When he gets back and takes a look at the eel's passage from life unto death, he sums the ques-tion up in this way: "I can't afford to offend my neighbors. I am only in for two years, I'll do as my prede-cessors have done from Adam to Noah; from Noah down to the date of my retirement from this pesky business, and hence the panorama is left on the road docket for a sample of civilization. We admit the fact an overseer has a lawful right to re-move obstructions under the road law, but timidity and a manly desire to live pleasantly with his neighbor, reaches out and takes his already embarrassed conditions through a vicissitude of thoughts that renders the law null and void. Not so under the commission plan. Obstructions will be a specialty with a commis-sioner unadulterated with private opinion; hence the law would be ex-ecuted in a business manner, far be-yond the state of present condi-tions. Down brakes, sisters, until we get over our rough places of road bar-barism, talk no more of leather breeches or death traps for snakes or other creeping things which have escaped the wisdom of our road sys-tem inaugurated away back when the scent of the red man's foot steps was keen and fresh with the blood of our fathers. Then why, oh why, will you oppose the declarations and necessities of the age, which God is centuring in the minds of the people for their advancement from darkness unto light. If you want have tax-ation, the best apple on the tree, don't eat the rotten one that's full of worms any longer, but take the next best, and your digestion will go eas-ier when you get on the public high-way. Hoping the sisters a pleasant Xmas, we leave off with many thanks to the editor for his courtesy and labor in dealing with the crude sug-gestions of the boys in the rural dis-tricts who are trying to help move the wheels of a deleterious road sys-tem, so as the light of financial inter-est may take its perch on the face of brightness already designated by halves of the fourth coming century. Now as the sister is fifty six years old, don't say this thing and that thing, but try this and that thing, until we get the right thing; let no system be a law longer than is neces-sary to develop its merit.

Another Hanging.

Will Tutt, colored, who shot and killed his wife at Mayfield in August, 1897, because she expressed her in-tention to go to Columbus to witness a game of base ball, has again been the death sentence. He was tried and convicted at the March term of court but was given a new trial by the court of appeals on account of a technical-ity. His trial came up in the circuit court again last week, and the case was given to the jury Saturday after-noon. A verdict of conviction, with death sentence, was returned yester-day. Judge Robbins will pass sen-tence at this term of court. The time will like be in January.—Paducah News.

If your child has thin pale cheeks, uncertain appetite and unrestful sleep, it has worms, and curing with strong medicines only makes condi-tions worse, by irritating its delicate stomach. White's Cream Vermifuge is mild but certain in effect, and is a superior tonic as well as a positive worm destroyer. Sold by J. H. Orme Druggist.

ARE YOU A DEMOCRAT?

An old adage reads: "There is a place for everything, and for everything to be in its place, the LOUISVILLE DISPATCH should find a place in the home of every DEMOCRAT in the SOUTHERN SOUTH. The Dispatch is the people's paper, owned by the people, and is always ready to fight for the cause of the people. IT STANDS SQUARELY ON THE CHICAGO PLAT-FORM, without the aid or consent of the Gold Bug Monopolies, and a fair com-parison of its news service (now being fur-nished over leased wires by the New York Sun, the Chicago Inter Ocean and the Northern Press Association) with that of any other paper, will fully verify its motto, "If you see it in the Dispatch it's so, and if it's so it is always in the Dis-patch." The Dispatch also has a staff of over 300 active correspondents in the South, and will POSITIVELY GUARANTEE MORE THAN DOUBLE THE SOUTHERN NEWS of any other Louisville paper.
